

Lindsay Burr, MS
CEO
The Yarbrough Group

Lindsay specializes in helping organizations and individuals navigate complexity and embrace authentic leadership. She holds a Masters in Conflict Analysis and Resolution from George Mason University and a degree in Political Science from Wellesley College. Her work has included rebuilding governments following violent conflict, advancing women's leadership in policy and economic development and advising global organizations such as the United Nations and the European Women's Lobby. She has also held leadership roles with the National Democratic Institute and the Woodrow Wilson Center. Lindsay brings a unique generational and global perspective to leadership development.